Upon his law school graduation, Mr. Nosek joined a New York City law firm for four years as an Associate. He then joined a Long Island law firm, first as an Associate for eight years, and then as Counsel for another four.

His significant representations involved advising a creditors' committee as Special Counsel on individual mortgage borrower and class action claims, providing counsel to a large retailer as Conflicts Counsel in resolving multi-million dollar equipment lease claims against the retail debtor; advising an owner of multiple malls as counsel to the debtor in sale of substantial real estate; and advocating for retired pilots in a large airline Chapter 11 case.

Mr. Nosek earned his Juris Doctor from St. John's University School of Law in 1997, and his Bachelor of Arts degree in history from the California State University, Long Beach in 1994.
